Safety

I urge you all to take care outside the school grounds in the mornings and after school. If driving, you need to be very aware of pedestrians as well as other vehicles. Sometime I think haste is our biggest danger; when you are in a hurry to get somewhere else, your attention to safety procedures can be diverted. Please concentrate on the surrounding environment!

If you are walking, care needs to be taken in crossing roads; the official crossing in Barton Street must be used, but in O'Connor Street extra precautions need to be in place. It is a real worry to see adults calling to their children from across the road, urging them to cross. What a hazard this creates! Young children do not have the skills to do this safely, so parents please get out of your cars and cross, so you can accompany your children across the road.

If you cross the road in Duffy Street, it should only happen at the corners, not midway along the street between cars.

Please stop and think when you bring your child to school or pick them up; we certainly don't want an accident.

Staff Update

New staff member

If you haven't realised, our Group 12 is up and running with Ms Stephanie Nicosia the class teacher. I realise that parents in this group have not had the opportunity to meet with Stephanie due to the class's late beginning. However we do plan to do so very soon.

Today is the last day of the term for Courtney Hull. Courtney is taking leave until the end of the term; she will be married this weekend. I know you will join me in wishing her all the very best for Saturday and many happy years to come. Courtney will return at the start of term two.

Sue Allan will take that class for the (almost) three weeks until the holiday break.
