PRINCIPAL'S NOTES

Reporting

Appointment times for interviews have been distributed for the interviews on Thursday afternoon and evening as well as Friday morning.

Please keep your allocated times handy, so you can be prompt for the interviews. When teachers have these times one after the other, it is imperative that each family arrives on time. As fifteen minutes has been allocated for each, this should allow plenty of time to discuss aspects of your child's learning.

The written reports shall be distributed tomorrow, giving you a chance to read and digest the information so you come prepared to ask questions and find out more about your child's progress and achievements.

Don't forget we do expect your child to accompany you at these interviews. The discussions are hinged around their behaviours, their learning and their achievements. Simply put; they need to be there, it's all about them taking responsibility for their learning and behaviours.

Staff

Next term, Chris Franzone will be taking some leave; tripping around Europe! Her teaching and other roles will be picked up by other teachers for the first six weeks of the term. I know she'll enjoy the break, and can't help feeling a little envious.

Headlice

There seems to have been an outbreak just recently. It is really important that every parent checks their child's hair, not just NOW, but also on a regular basis.

Long hair should be tied back at all time to lessen the opportunity for these little creatures to move onto the hair that hangs and flies around freely.

Thank you, Junior School Councillors

JUNIOR STUDENT COUNCILMEMBERS GROUP 8

My name is Isobel and I am a Junior School Councillor. My teacher is Mrs Angelevski in Group 10. I feel really proud that all of my classmates think that I am a responsible, reliable and kind person to be a Junior School Councillor. I really like being a Junior School Councillor because I get to do a lot of jobs like reading the awards, reading speeches, meetings and selling things. A Junior School Councillor means a lot to me because that means that people like me and think I'm a good person.

Isobel

As a Junior School Councillor I feel proud of myself. I was happy that I got picked because I knew that everyone would think I would be a good Junior School Council representative. This is my very first time and I am enjoying it. I would like to thank everyone who chose me to be a Junior School Councillor. At our meetings we are really busy organising special events for our school and trying to make it a better place. Tomorrow we will be having a Footy dress up day and a Sausage Sizzle. We will be raising the money for children with cancer.
